We are privileged to receive a report from one of our deployed members, Warrant Officer Leonardo Mawbey-Puglia. The Warrant is in the Signals Cell of the Canadian Forward Command Element in Task Force Latvia as the Chief Communications Officer.

Warrant Mawbey-Puglia writes:

“This is my fourth deployment; my particular area of responsibility is very different from other deployments. I currently work as the Chief Comm Op / G6-2 for the Forward Command Element before the stand up of the new multinational brigade in summer of 2024. OP REASSURANCE as of yet is currently going through massive growth in support of Canada’s deployment to Latvia, which will ultimately result in a combat-effective Multinational Brigade in Latvia led by Canada as framework nation the likes of which has not been seen since the early 90s in Europe. I have been tasked with assisting with the signals planning for the new multinational brigade. It has been challenging with multiple new technologies being fielded quickly and integrating them with our multinational partners. Just some of these technologies include but not limited to dispersed command posts, Mobile Ad Hoc Networks (MANET) radios, satellite communications, etc. The signals staff and I are also assisting in planning for the garrison increase of personnel which is a challenging task to increase resources by 800+ people in just a short few months. Everything from computers to telecommunications links to radio systems and vehicles is being increased at breakneck speeds, some of which are not exactly out of the box compatible. The signals staff in this area along with various technical visitors is charged to minimize the compatibility issues with our NATO counterparts which itself is challenging. This theater in peacetime is occasionally referred of as a “test bed” for new and emerging technologies which makes it interesting to see how different things work together. All these factors, new technology, massive increases in personnel, terrain and distance challenges with garrison and field requirements make it a really interesting time to be a signaller. Warrant Mawbey-Puglia is also the President of the Warrant Officers' and Sergeants' Mess Committee (PMC). The WO & Sgts' Mess has a display of pictures of previous Presidents of the Mess Committee. On 4th November 2023, we celebrated the 90th birthday of Chief Warrant Officer (Ret'd) John Spiers past Regimental Sergeant Major of 709 Communication Regiment. Happily, John's family brought together comrades and friends from his service in 709 Communication Regimental. 3 retired COs' and 3 RSMs' added to the numbers and shared memories of John's wide-ranging career.

32 Signal Regiment team of MCpl Krebs-Vandeloosdrecht, and Sgt Lo, have been providing some brilliant photographs of the regiment on exercise. Here are two recent examples
